Dedication

The 1964 Acorn is dedicated to Mrs. Lillian Dannenberg.

For six years Mrs. Dannenberg's contagious exuberance and youthful flamboyance have been instrumental in increasing the students' desire and interest in learning. She has been an inspiration to countless young people. Whether it's assisting a student in distress or making a new student feel at home, she does it with a flourish. One always pictures Mrs. Dannenberg walking down the hall with her arm around a student and speaking Spanish "150-miles-an-hour."

Born in Barcis, Italy, Mrs. Dannenberg received her B.A. degree at the University of California at Berkeley in 1948. She speaks five languages fluently: Spanish, French, Italian, German and Latin. For the past three years she has served as head of the foreign language department at Alameda High School. Her colleagues in the department credit her for doing one of the finest teaching jobs possible. They also praise her conscientious efforts at organizing and revitalizing the department every year.

Before coming to Alameda High School in 1958, Mrs. Dannenberg taught at Dos Palos High School in Merced for two years and at Los Lomas High School in Walnut Creek for seven years.

The Acorn staff is proud to dedicate the yearbook to Mrs. Lillian Dannenberg.

Her patient drilling is long remembered.

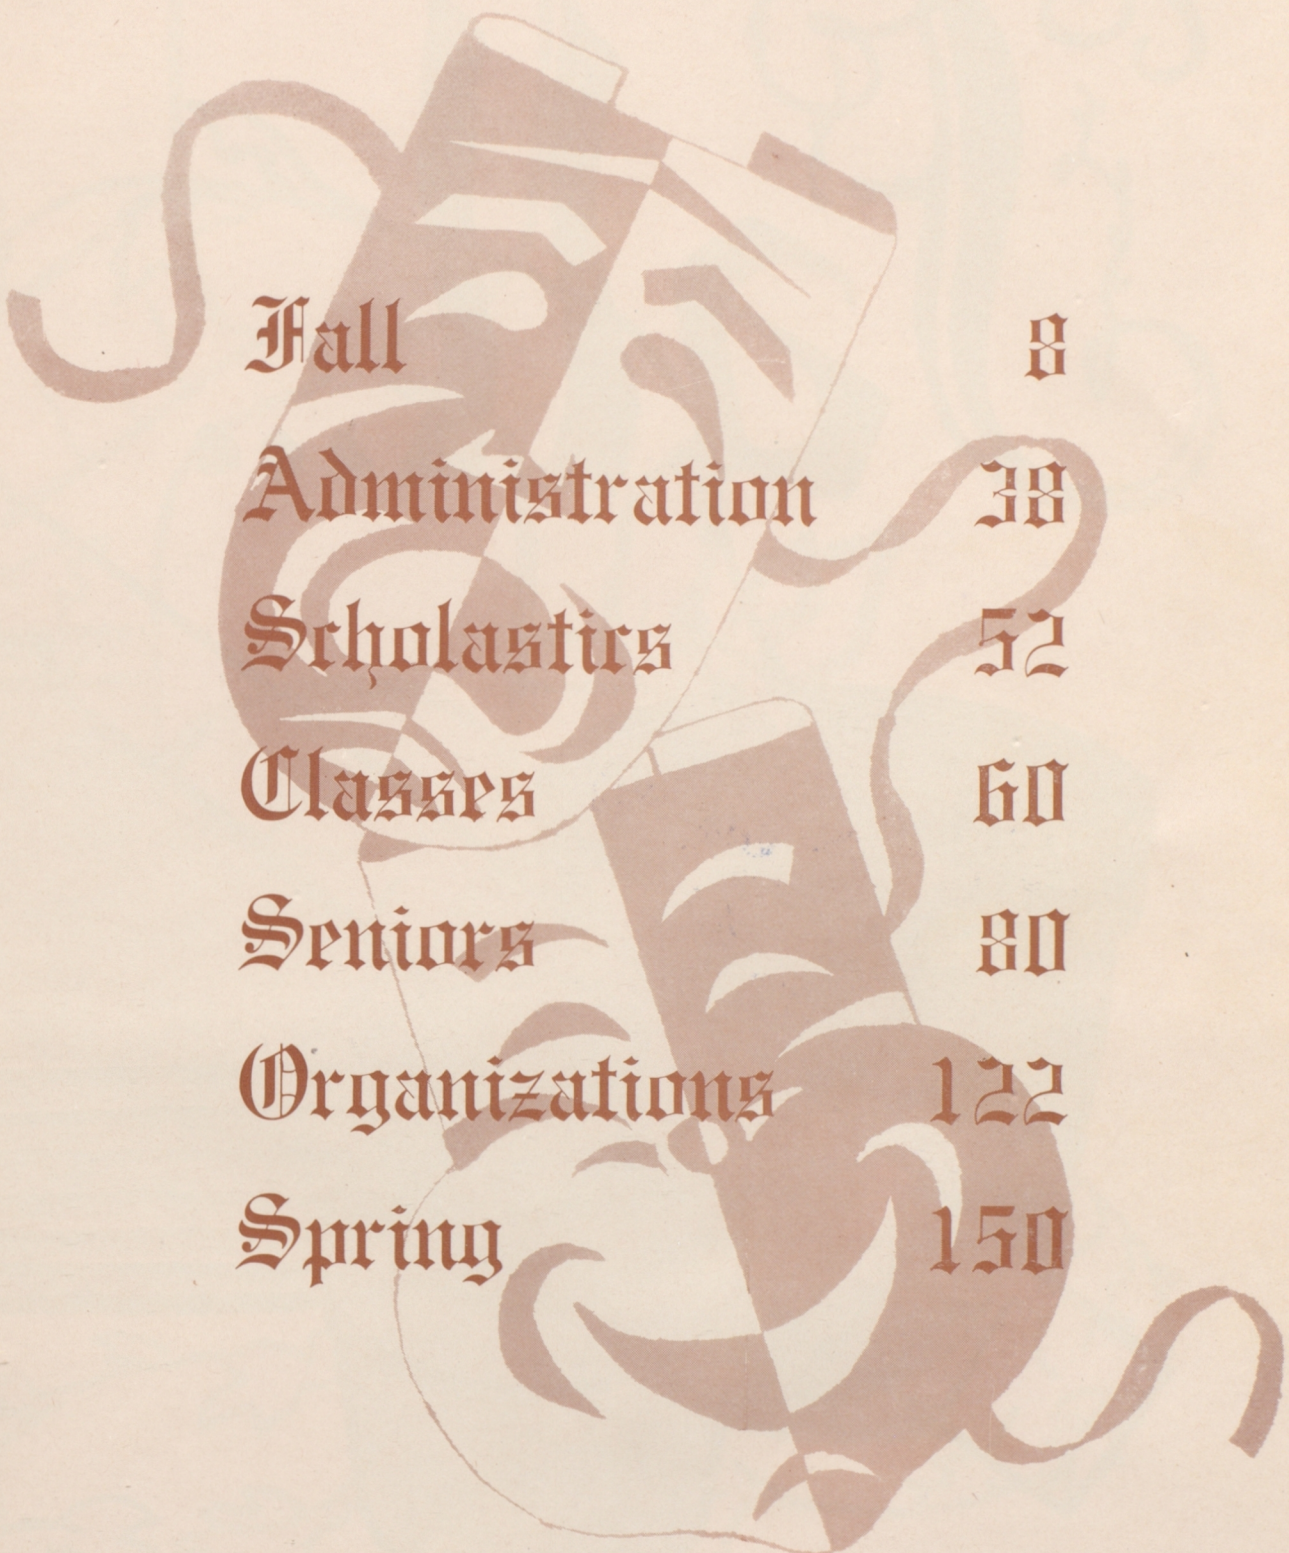

The senora's vivacious personality captures her audience.

Mrs. Dannenberg easily conveys her vast knowledge to her willing students.

The football season of 1963 will be long remembered. Though the Hornets were not champions, the quality of their play was exceptional. The team allowed less points than any other team in the A.C.A.L. Doug Royer, Mickey Clark, and Barry Seltzer were among the top ground gainers in the league. Terry Kotte and Tom Deal were picked for the all-A.C.A.L. defensive and offensive teams and Mickey Clark was picked for the defensive all-A.C.A.L. team. Doug led the team in scoring with sixty points.

The Hornets lost the championship because of two missed "extra points". Had the "extra points" been good against Berkeley we would have tied the game and hence would have tied for the championship. Had yet another "extra point" not been blocked by San Leandro we would have beaten the Pirates and hence we would have won the championship.

This year the varsity cross country team finished in sixth place in the A.C.A.L. Five lettermen returned from last year: Dana Wooten, Rich Lodge, John Hanah, Ted Ferguson, and Willie Poole. These experienced runners formed the nucleus of this year's team. The team was noted for its never-say-die spirit, even in the face of defeat.

The fleet-footed soph-frosh cross country team finished in sixth place, and the jayvees finished seventh in the A.C.A.L.

Mr. Leland Stanford coached all three teams.

One of the most important and enjoyable duties that the student officers have to perform is that of representing Alameda High School at other high school and in the community.

Besides carrying the spirit of Alameda to the football and basketball games at other schools, Yell Leader Essex also represented Alameda High at the exchange rally with Encinal High. The other officers accompanied her and all enjoyed an appetizing brunch.

The president and vice president also regularly attended American Field Service club meetings along with Rudolfo Candia the foreign exchange student attending Alameda High.

Each officer was also responsible for attending an A.C.A.L. Talent Show presented at each of the other high schools.

The Alameda High School rifle team is made up of R.O.T.C. cadets. At each rifle match seven riflemen compete. Twenty-two caliber rifles are used by each rifleman. The targets are a distance of fifty feet away from each participant. John Whitman and Dick Thurman are our best riflemen. Our rifle team was an outstanding example of accuracy and perseverance.

The duties performed by members of the Women's Board of Control are numerous, one being: to monitor over student body meetings, girls' association meetings and athletic contests.

The girls meet weekly where they sentence school offenders with punishments ranging from essays to detentions. However, their importance is not in punishing students, rather in maintaining the high standards at Alameda High.

The girls are chosen by the Ad. Board and a special student-faculty committee on the basis of their grades, citizenship, activities and attendance.

The Men's Board of Control is responsible for the general school conduct and at their weekly meetings, discuss ways to improve it.

The boys are chosen according to their grades, attendance, activities and citizenship. They apply for membership, but only those selected are allowed to wear the white and yellow caps which signify their position.

The main objective of the Board of Control is to bring offenders of Alameda High School policies to justice.

Always planning—Always thinking—Always high standards—this is the code of the Administrative Board.

Members of the Ad Board consist of the student body officers, two representatives from each class and six delegates elected by the student body. All positions except those of the delegates are for the entire year. The delegates are elected each semester.

The Ad Board budgets the school finances and approves changes in any school policy.

It is the responsibility of the Student Faculty to plan all our student meetings and assist the Student Body Officers. They also evaluate these meetings after they have taken place.

The members of the Student Faculty are not elected; rather they are chosen from the leaders of A.H.S. organizations. Representatives from the Administrative Board are also included.

Mr. Mell, Dr. Snell, and Miss Los Kamp and Mr. Moore represent the faculty.

country's good with respect"

The American Field Service has endeavored through its exchange program to unite the peoples of the world in a common understanding.

This summer our foreign ambassador was Diana Miller, who represented Alameda High School in France. One of Diana's "sisters" in Rouen, France, was a foreign exchange student in Florida.

Rudolfo Candia came to Alameda High from Rosario, Argentina through the American Field Service exchange program. In Argentina, Rudy (as Rudolfo is called by his friends at Alameda High) attended an all-boy's school. He is fascinated by our co-educational system and astonishes his fellow students with comparisons between his two schools.

Rudy took an active part in the life at Alameda High. As a member of the stage crew he was behind the scenes at school productions. He played a part in running the school government as a member of the Men's Board of Control.

Rudy's "family" in Alameda was the Dr. Walter Babcocks. His "brother" was Chris Babcock, a junior at Alameda High.

SEPTEMBER

- 10—Some students were nervous; some were excited; and some were fearful. This was the first day of school.
- 18—Today at the G.A. reception, the freshman girls were welcomed into Alameda High School.
- 20—The Hornets beat El Cerrito eighteen to thirteen for our first victory of the football season.
- 25—The cross country team placed high in a meet at De Anza.
- 27—The football team clobbered Harry Ells fourteen to nothing to shut them out for the third consecutive year.

OCTOBER

- 2—The Star and Key snow cone sale today.
- 4—After the Hornets defeated Pacific twenty-one to seven, everyone celebrated at the Rooters' Romp.
- 9—El Cerrito was outrun by the Mercury-footed cross-country team.
- 11—Sadly the football team tied San Leandro six to six in a tremendous battle.
- 18—After the football team crushed Richmond twenty to seven, the students attended "Night Lights" later that evening.
- 25—Despite cheers of "Beat Berkeley," the Yellowjackets narrowly edged the Hornets seven to six to capture the A.C.A.L. football title on an "extra point".

NOVEMBER

- 1—Encinal was clobbered, as usual, by the tremendous football team, twenty-six to nothing.
- 2—Everyone who attended the senior play, "Take Her, She's Mine", had an unforgettable night.

8—The football team humiliated De Anza by beating them forty-one to seven.

12—The first day of the crucial exam week when much midnight oil was burned.

15—Castro Valley was easily downed thirteen to nothing by the fabulous Hornets.

21—The student body was dazzled by the Fall Talent Show.

27—The unique soph-hop "Sugar Shack" was by all.

DECEMBER

13—Everyone emulated Santa Claus by bringing a toy to the 'S' Club dance, "Silver Bells".

17—In our first league basketball game Harry Ells barely beat us by the score of eighty-three to sixty-one.

19—The Christmas Pageant made a superb impression on everyone who saw it.

JANUARY

7—Today we returned from our brief respite and De Anza beat our basketball team sixty-eight to fifty-two.

14—Our basketball team crunched El Cerrito sixty-three to thirty-nine.

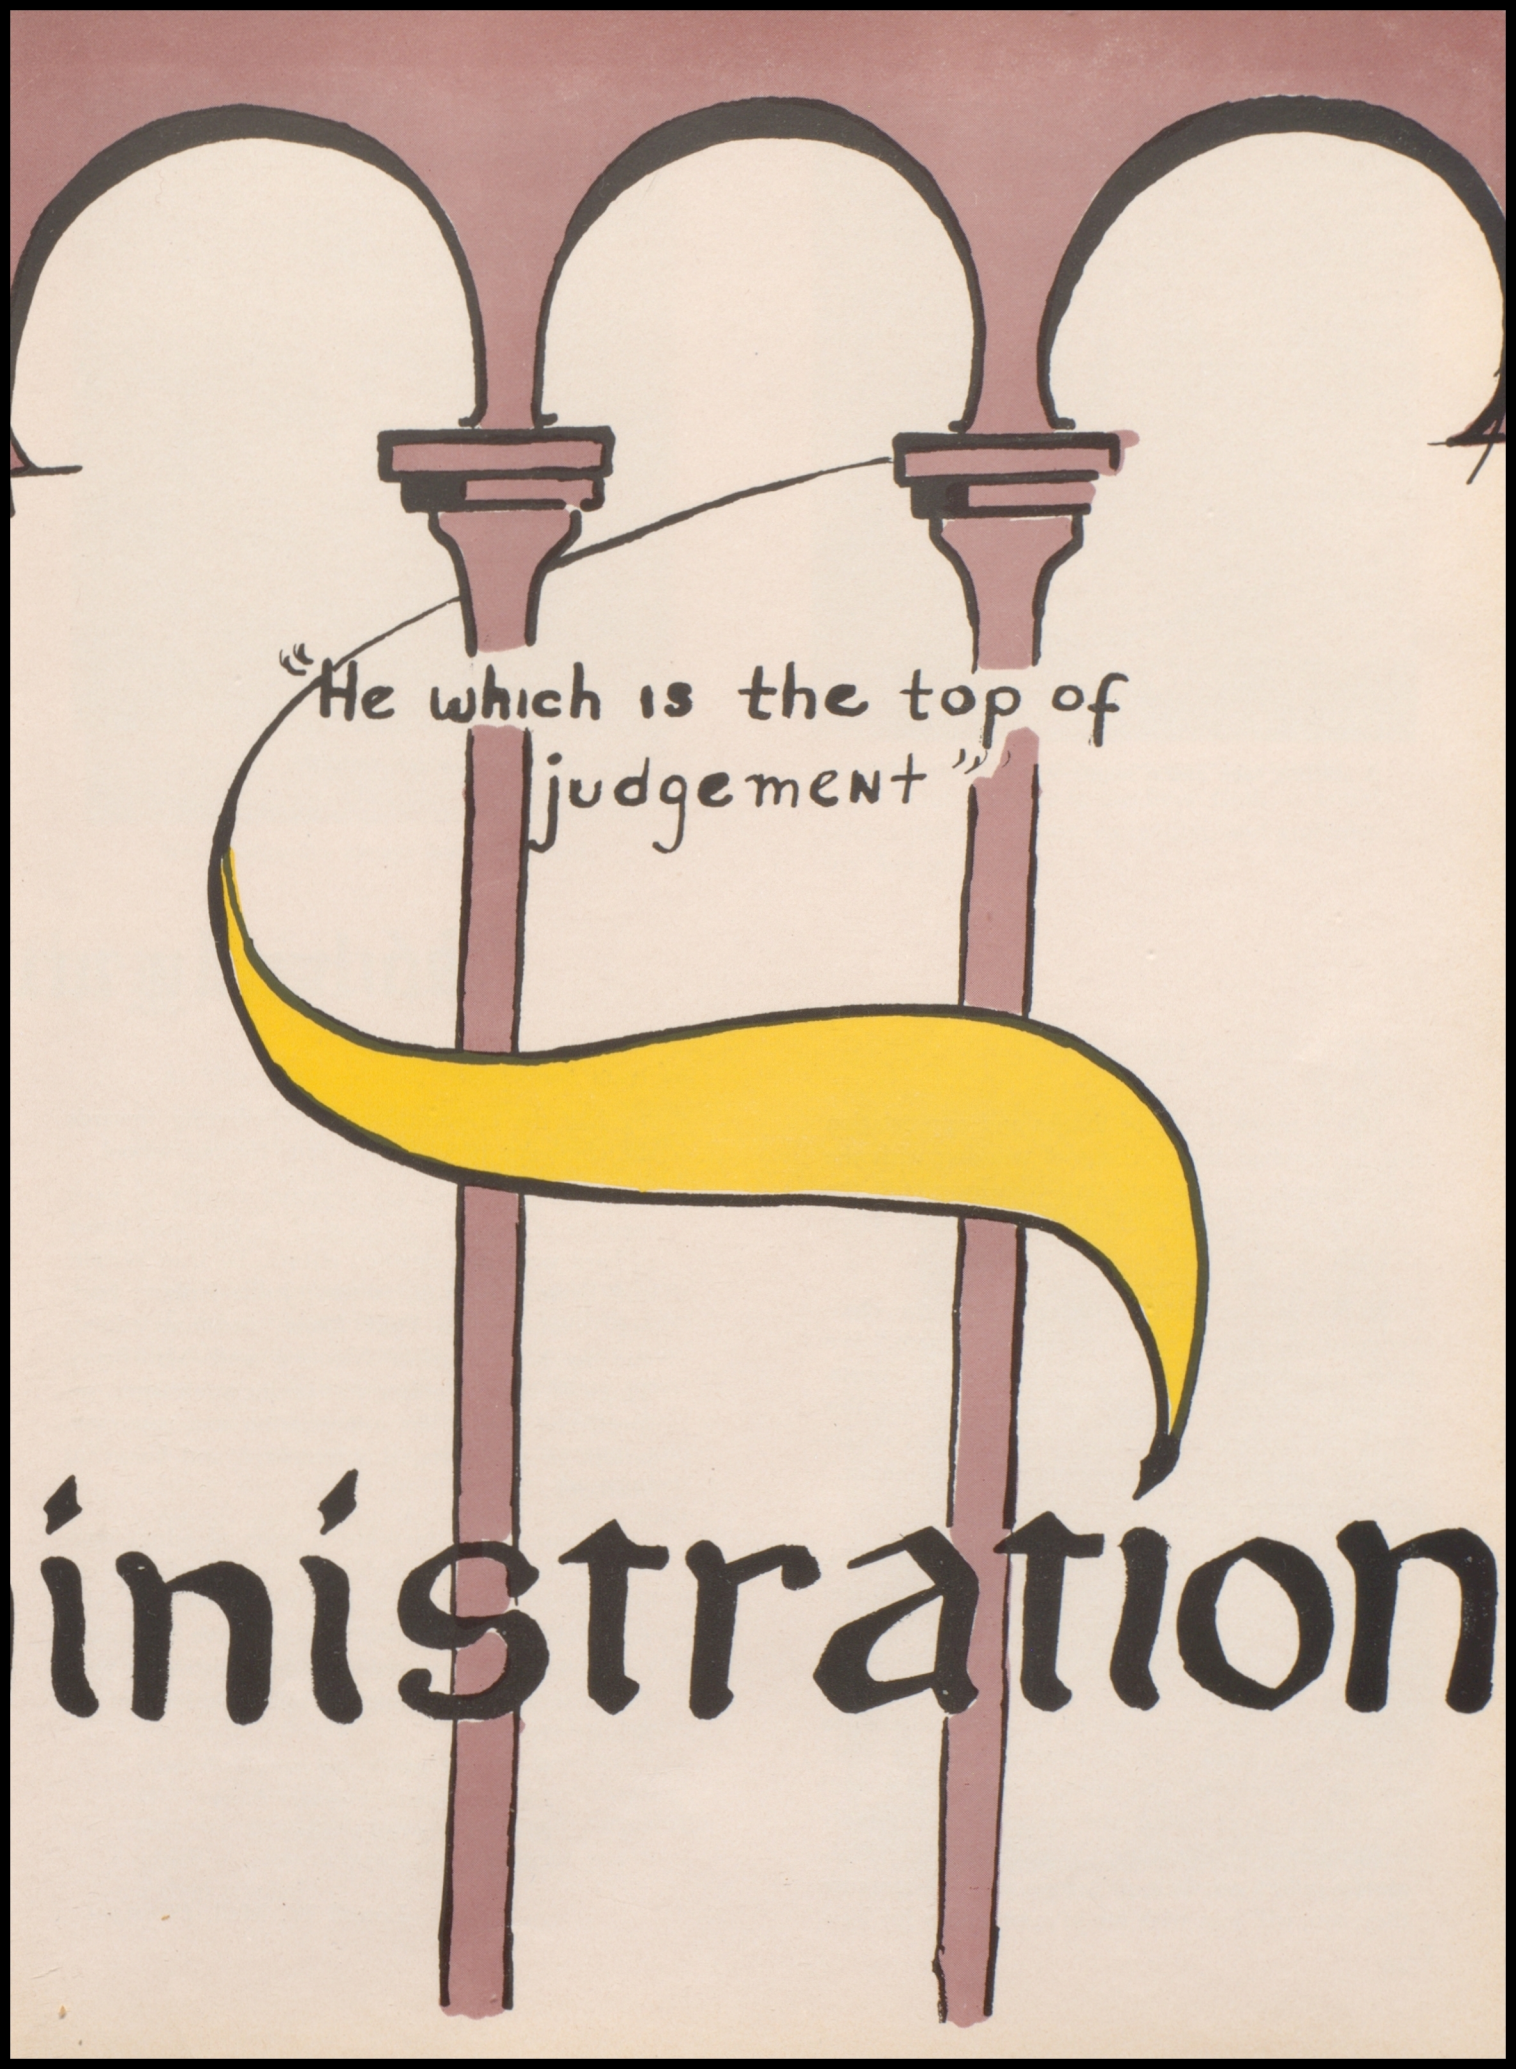

17—Encinal was taught the art of playing basketball as the Hornets mauled them sixty-five to fifty-six.

24—All who went to the fabulous junior prom enjoyed it. Deanna Demel was the reigning queen of "Emerald City".

30—The Block 'A' mob upset the faculty twenty-nine to twenty-six in a "Basketball Game".

inistration

A smiling face and a happy word, is Mr. Mell.

The voice which ends third period.

This message is one of thanks and appreciation for having had the privilege of working with the fine students, faculty, and staff who have built the high spirit and achievements of Alameda High School.

Each year we have consistently met the challenge of our motto, "Always High Standards." We have raised our standards in scholarship, sportsmanship, citizenship, and friendship. In doing this we have learned to identify, nurture, and wisely use our talents as the foundation for "direction" and "meaning" in our lives.

In talking with former students and graduates, and in observing the many class reunions, I feel they all seem to have a feeling of loyalty interest, and affection for their Alma Mater. This stems from having had teachers at Alameda High School who inspired their students to be good citizens, to take pride in good work, to achieve their best while gaining knowledge and competencies which will make their lives useful and happy. Undoubtedly the members of this June Class of '64 will nostalgically reflect on their past four years. I am sure they, too, will join with me in appreciation for having had the opportunity of contributing towards the challenge of high standards for our school.

I wish to extend my personal thanks to each member of the 1964 Acorn staff for his many hours of hard work and devoted efforts. To Dan Wright and Donna Nomura, editors; Judie Nelson, business manager; to Paul Lacer, assistant editor; and to Mrs. Patricia Nicolson and Mr. Bruce Tingwall, faculty editor and business manager, respectively, I offer my appreciation and congratulations in producing this treasured and beautiful yearbook.

In completing thirty-three years of administration in the Alameda Public Schools, I wish to extend to all the faculty, staff, and students of Alameda High School, with whom I have been associated these past five years, my best wishes for your future success in keeping the following lines of the School Hymn:

*Gold and white our standards raise
Let our motto brighter blaze
Ever 'til the end of days
On to victory.*

Lowell W. Mell, Principal

Mrs. Hoeksema always has a moment.

When asked what her occupation was Mrs. Helen Hoeksema replied, "Girls". Indeed any girl who has had an opportunity to meet and work with Mrs. Hoeksema realizes the truth of this statement.

Her job as Women's vice principal requires that she work with all of the girls' organizations as well as the individual girls. She acts as mediator between the administration and the G.A., Board of Control, and Courtesy Board and is responsible to see that the policies of Alameda High are carried out. Busy as she may be she always has an extra ear to listen to any problems.

Away from school her interests vary from boating to antiques. She is especially fond of old glass vases and bowls. Mrs. Hoeksema started a doll collection when she bicycled through Europe after her graduation from college.

This year Mrs. Hoeksema has become vitally interested in promoting community interest in a girls' club. Similar to the Boys' Club, it would offer a place for study, recreation, and guidance for "her girls".

they friends"

As Vice-Principal, Dr. James Snell plays an important part in supervising student activities. Even though he is responsible for formulating the yearly activities schedule and all school programming, he gives much of his time and interest to the youth of Alameda High.

Dr. Snell supervises the Men's Board of Control, the Advisory Board and the Student Faculty Committee as well as providing any wayward boy with the necessary disciplinary measures. He also works with the Student Body officers in planning the student meetings and helping the officers in planning the student meetings and helping the officers perform their respective duties.

When Dr. Snell leaves school, however, he is able to pursue his other interests. His main source of enjoyment is traveling; in fact, this summer he traveled through Mexico. He is especially interested in "back packing" which offers a chance for relaxation and a richer realization of the great outdoors. Besides traveling, our vice principal enjoys household carpentry which is quite natural considering he was once a shop teacher.

Dr. Snell always has time to listen to problems.

Harold Eifert
Assistant Superintendent

Dr. Roderick cheerfully reads his daily mail.

Charles Briscoe
Assistant Superintendent

“He hath a daily beauty in his life”

Dr. Donald M. Roderick has been the Superintendent of Schools in Alameda since 1952 when he was appointed to that office by the Board of Education. Well qualified, he earned his Bachelor's degree in education at Chico State College and his Master's degree and doctorate in education at Stanford University.

Before Dr. Roderick became Superintendent of Schools he was extremely active in other facets of education. Besides teaching high school English and social science in Alameda, he was a part-time Professor of Education at San Francisco State, and at one time he lectured on education Stanford University.

Before he began his career in education he traveled around the world as an orchestra leader on passenger liners.

As chief administrator Dr. Roderick presides over the Board of Education and recommends appointments, demotions, and transfers to the board. He also represents the school board in public. It is also the responsibility of the Superintendent to establish a budget for the next year.

The Alameda Board of Education consists of five members nominated by the mayor and appointed by the city council for a term of five years. A board member may serve an indefinite number of terms. Alameda is one of two communities in the state which appoints its Board of Education. All others are elected.

The board endeavors to establish the most effective regulations for the control and management of Alameda schools. It adopts policies, hires and dismisses teachers, approves curriculum, and handles all business pertaining to Alameda schools. In addition it is legally responsible to the public for the school system.

The appointed members of the Board of Education are: (l. to r.) Mr. Jack Lubbock, Mr. Frank Weeden, Mrs. Lee Cavanaugh, Mr. J. H. Moffitt, and Mr. Dean Ramsden.

"Good counsellors lack no clients"

The seven counselors at Alameda High carry on a very full schedule each day. Mrs. Beatrice Anderson, Mr. Butler, Mrs. Howell, Mr. Jones, Mrs. Tham, and Miss di Vecchio, each advises the students of three freshman, sophomore, junior and senior advisories, besides teaching regular classes.

Mr. Bartley, the head counselor, supervises the counseling system and takes charge of all special scholarships.

Mr. Tovey has the special task of administering the numerous aptitude and interest tests to the students.

Higher state requirements now insure that the counselors will be the better than before. All counselors must complete a specific program.

All freshmen take the Differential Aptitude

Test which measures the amount they have learned up to the ninth grade. This test aids in placing the students in X, Y or Z classes.

Counselors guide sophomores in deciding what type of classes to take during the last two years. The student goes in the direction of either college preparatory classes or vocational classes. Sophomores take the Sequential Test of Education Progress to determine any educational advancement.

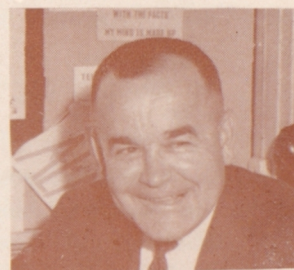

In the junior year of high school many tests are offered to the prospective college student. The STEP test is a re-administered, and the Scholastic and College Ability Test is given for the first time in the junior year. The National Merit Scholarship Qualifying examination offers excellent students a chance for numerous scholarships.

The office staff handles Mr. Mell's correspondence, organizes the student files, and arranges the textbooks as part of their everyday routine. There are several student assistants who lessen each day's work load.

As classified personnel the eight members of the office staff help to coordinate the activities of the school. The main office, Mr. Mell, Dr. Snell and Mrs. Hoeksema, and counselling offices are all assisted by members of the office staff. The bookroom and the school bank are operated by members of the office staff.

This year the cafeteria introduced an appetizing bargain lunch for thirty-five cents.

The cafeteria is open every day before school, when coffee, hot chocolate and doughnuts can be purchased.

Mrs. Helen Kikes supervises the cafeteria staff.

The snack bar is also open at noon every day where hot dogs, hamburgers, etc., can be purchased.

Every day the staff must wash a mountain of pots, pans, dishes, trays, and silverware after the multitude of students have eaten lunch.

Members of the cafeteria staff are: (l. to r.) Mrs. Helen Kikes, Mrs. Jean Johnson, Mrs. Varena Laird, John Jordon, Mrs. Norma Martino, Mrs. Bea McCreery, Mrs. Blanche Hott, Mrs. Alva Mason.

“To sweat under a weary life”

The custodial staff of Alameda High School has one main purpose, to preserve the school for the future generations while making it suitable for the present one.

No one can possibly record all the repairs made in one year by the custodians. The broken windows, damaged locks, fluctuating clock and other damages that are repaired in our school are too numerous to enumerate.

What would the school do without them? Who would fire the boilers in the mornings?

Who would open the school each day? Who would handle the school supplies?

Al Lorenzana heads the staff, and his assistant is Harvey Struib.

No suitable replacement can ever be conceived of to replace these fine people. The cooperation of the students would be greatly appreciated and would save a lot of time and

A little helpful advice.

Scholastics

"Homework is always easier with friends to help," say the C.S.F. officers. They are (l. to r.) Kathy Anderson, financial secretary; Mara Suviks, recording secretary; Cindy Borden, vice president; Leonard Rosi, president; Joanne Alsop, business manager.

The California Scholarship Federation in Alameda High has broken through the wall of tradition and has opened a book store. The book store named "The Third Story" carries more than 150 book titles in stock and offers a selection of 1500 book titles which may be ordered. Miss Holland, the C.S.F. sponsor, is in charge of this project.

The selection of books varies from The Story of Chinese Philosophy and Hawaii to Sherlock Holmes and Drag Strip.

The C.S.F. includes those students who have earned, as semester grades, three "A's" and one "B" in subjects requiring homework. They also must have participated in extra curricular activities.

To become a life member one must have joined three consecutive times or four nonconsecutive times including once in his senior year. This year there were nine candidates for life memberships.

"To write and read comes by nature"

A few of the C.S.F. members look over the newly arrived books.

The "Third Story" was very busy.

The books rapidly disappear from the shelves of the C.S.F. book store.

This year there were many Star and Key members.

President Bill Taylor presiding over a Star and Key meeting.

"There's a skirmish of wit between them"

Fall officers of the Star and Key club were: (l. to r.) Gail Peacock, financial secretary; Mary Kleinjan, publicity manager; Judy Ellis, recording secretary; Susan Garfinkle, vice-president; Calvin Mew, president.

Spring officers of the Star and Key club were: (l. to r.) Fran Hutchinson, publicity manager; Carol Zigelhofer, vice-president; Bill Taylor, president; Robin Horton, recording secretary; Sue Schwartz, financial secretary.

The Star and Key Honor Society at A.H.S. recently altered the club's constitution to meet the needs of the organization. One change is the requirement that a senior, in order to receive the honorary red seal on his diploma, must be a paid-up member in his senior year. Essentially, this means that to become a life member of this organization, one must qualify in his senior year.

Eligibility to Star and Key requires the student to maintain a B average or better during a semester grading period.

Most of the members enjoyed the meetings.

Faith Echtermeyer
Girls' State

Dana Wooten
Boys' State

This year Faith Ectermeyer was Alameda High's contribution to Girls' State. During her week's stay at the convention, she participated in reenactments of many of the phases of the state government. Girls' State afforded Faith the opportunity of becoming better acquainted with state operations.

One boy is chosen to represent A.H.S. at the Sacramento State Fair each summer. Dana Wooten was last year's representative. He helped to set up the state government with eight hundred other boys.

Boys' State is an organization sponsored by the American Legion.

Some A.H.S. students are participating in the Advanced Study Program being offered at Oakland City College, Merritt Campus. Neither the instructors nor the other students are informed that these are high school students. These students may carry one or two courses at the college during each semester of their senior year. Final selection of the students to participate in the program is made by Mr. Mell and the counselors involved.

The O.C.C. scholars were: JoAnne Alsup, Tina Gamble, Brenda Gates, Leonard Rosi and Tom Samota.

"Here is everything advantageous"

The Bank of America Awards winners were: (l. to r., sitting) Diane Gray, mathematics and science; (standing)

Cindy Borden, fine arts; Dana Wooten, liberal arts; Bonnie Ames, vocational arts.

A host of scholars caught the top awards through the Bank of America Achievement Awards Program, the D.A.R. award and the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

The purpose of the Bank of America Awards Program is to give public recognition to those outstanding seniors whose scholastic records merit the honor. Alameda High is proud to have finalists in various categories who will go on to further competition.

The National Merit Scholarship Corporation offers scholarships to high school juniors in the upper percentage of their class. A test is given which determines the students' ability in a variety of subjects. Semi-finalists and finalists are then chosen—the top award being a scholarship to the college of one's choice.

Contributing to the community and to the school are the main factors determining the recipient of the award offered by the Daughters of the American Revolution. The senior girls select a fellow classwoman who merits this award. She may go on to district and state competition.

It is an honor to have students who fill the demands to meet these various awards.

Seniors

Like as the waves make towards the pebbled shore,
So do our minutes hasten to their end;
Each changing place with that which goes before.

"What's gone and

The senior class officers worked efficiently to create an enjoyable and memorable year for all seniors. Due to their planning the traditional senior activities were enthusiastically supported.

The first event, the senior play Take Her She's Mine, was presented in November.

The senior Mother-Daughter Tea in April launched the spree of pre-graduation activities, followed by the Hat and Sock Day and the senior picnic in May.

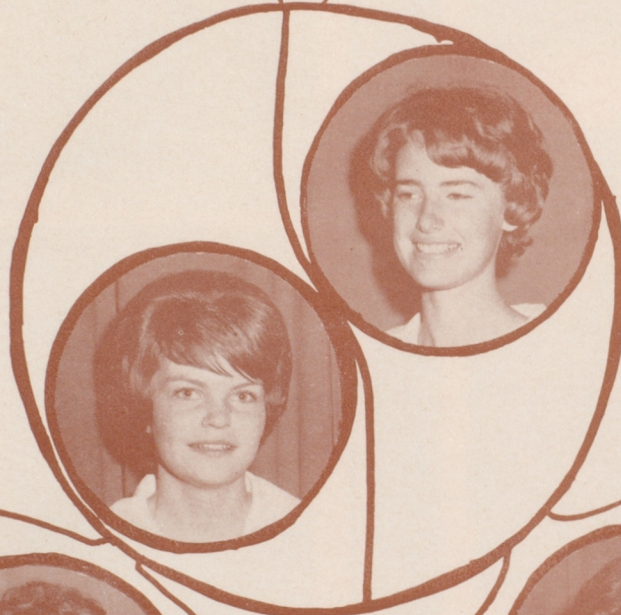

The senior meeting was presented to the student body on June 4.

All will surely remember the Gold Cotillion and the Baccalaureate that following Sunday.

The senior banquet will serve as a prelude to that long-awaited moment, graduation. The seniors will be able to meet for their final farewell that night at the all night party.

"If music be the food"

The A.H.S. band; seventy-six trombones in formation.

Mr. Vinceguerra and friend prepare for the Block 'A' dance.

The Band, under the direction of Mr. Dominick Vinceguerra, performs during athletic events, gives programs at the grade schools, and plays at many of the student body meetings. The Dance Band, composed of members from the Advanced Band, plays for many of the school dances and also performs at the Spring Concert.

The String Ensemble, directed by Mr. Carlton Hanson, participates at the State Festival and at the Solo and Ensemble Festival. This year the Ensemble also participated in a television program.

The two groups combine as a full orchestra for school plays and the Holiday Pageant.

Mrs. Cederleaf leads the vocal group.

Under the direction of Mrs. Carol Cederleaf the Alameda High vocal group have delighted their audiences for seven years. This year there are over one hundred and fifty students participating in the vocal program.

The Girls Glee Club became an active performing group two years ago. It now regularly entertains the Soroptimist Club of Alameda as well as other charity organizations. The girls made their own uniforms of blue shifts from material paid for by the Crescendo Club.

The Advanced Choir, formally called the Senior Choir, is the largest and oldest vocal group in Alameda High. It performs regularly for the Student Body meetings in addition to the Holiday Pageant and Spring Concert.

The Vocal Ensemble is the most advanced of the groups and consists of only the most talented vocal students. It's many performances included those at the Oak Knoll Hospital, the Jewish Old Folks Home, and Rotary Club meetings. The Vocal Ensemble brought honors to Alameda High School when it competed in this year's Choral Festival. The members of this group have uniforms of gold corduroy purchased by the Crescendo Club.

All of these groups join to perform at the annual Spring Concert.

This year the theme of the Acorn is William Shakespeare, as 1964 marks the four hundredth anniversary of Shakespeare's birth. The headlines were taken from Shakespeare's plays and sonnets and the artwork were taken from the Shakespearean era.

The Acorn staff is divided into two branches: the business staff and the editorial staff.

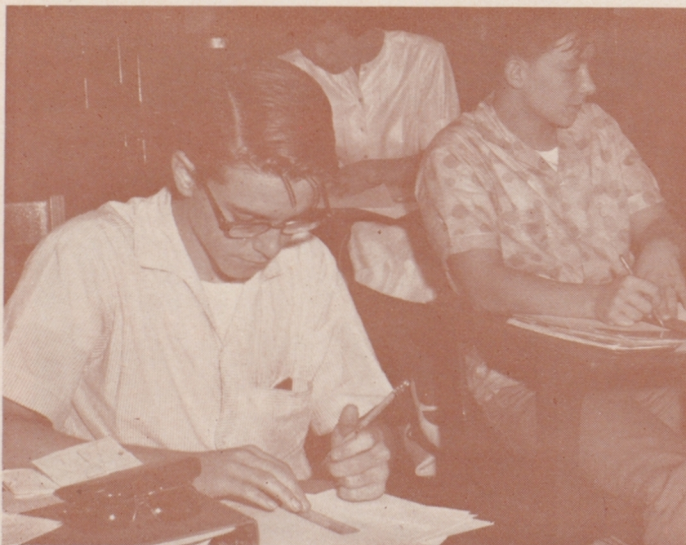

The business staff is supervised by Mr. Bruce Tingwall and is responsible for the payment and sale of the yearbook. Judy Nelson is the business manager.

The editorial staff creates the yearbook.

First the blueprint or “dummy” must be made, pictures must be taken and cropped, stories and captions written. The class and senior sections, sports, organizations, and activities must then be organized in this manner. The members of the editorial staff are: Mrs. Patricia Nicolson, faculty advisor; Dan Wright, editor; Donna Nomura, copy editor; Jeff Apple and Bruce Malloy, photographers; Pat Lawton, art editor, and Cindy Borden, Paul Lacer, Deanna Demel and Tom Sartwell, writers.

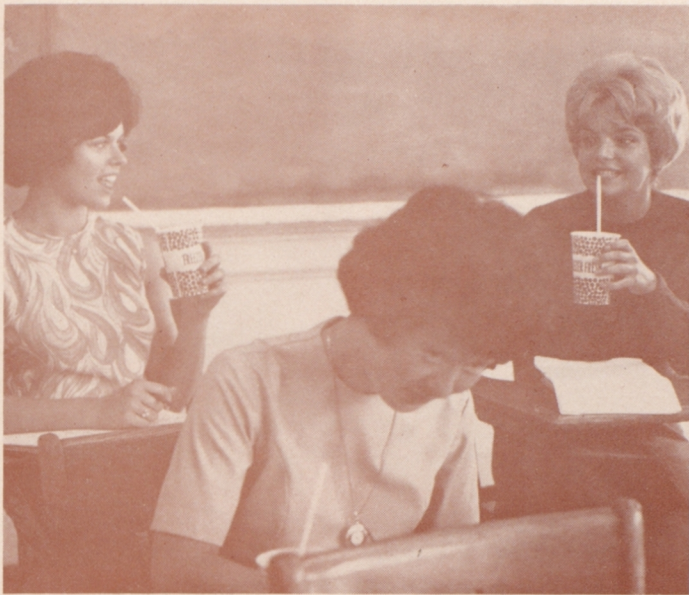

Working against the deadline.

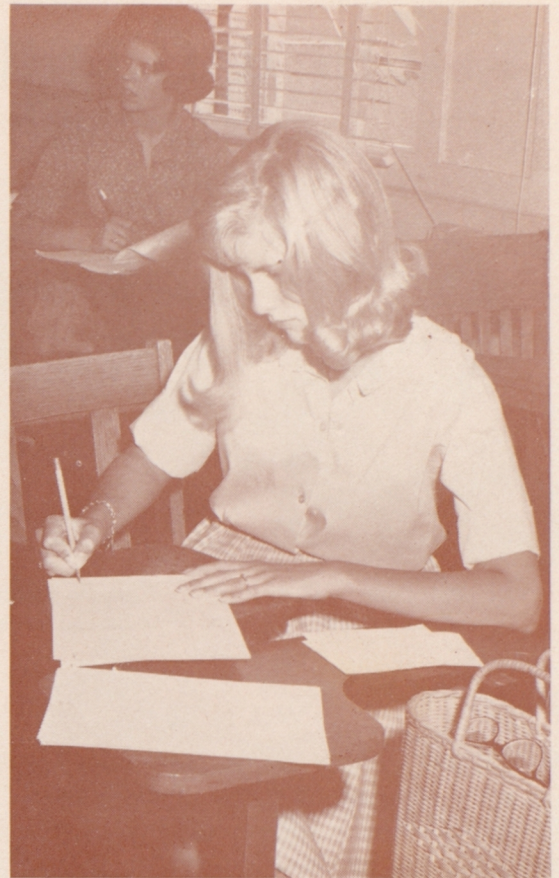

We do have some hard workers, after all!

WANTED

Writers for Oak Leaf. No pay, poor hours, no fringe benefits, no paid holidays. Work in atmosphere of utter confusion. Lovely view from third story of walls and roofing paper. Once a month attend wild paper folding orgy. See your hands become stained with wet ink and slashed by sharp paper right before your very eyes. Thrill to the excitement of finding a typewriter that really works! Discover the sensation of forgetting a deadline and receiving a minus 10 on your grading scale. Know the luxury of having a water fountain right outside the door. Feel pride at seeing your name in the paper . . . misspelled. (Seriously, if interested and are in X or Y English with a grade of "B" or better and are sophomores or higher apply Room 300.)

Oak Leaf staff composes new articles

Down with the Oak Leaf!

Mr. Dare and his staff prepare the Oak Leaf and strive to stimulate student interest in a variety of topics by having the students participate. The students are encouraged to write articles and exercise their freedom of thought.

This year a new page, the Paradigm, was added to portray the personality of Alameda High School. It represents the students' contributions of stories, poems or photos.

The Oak Leaf reports on almost everything that happens around Alameda High School. School elections, sports, events, and class and administration activities, are all covered. Also articles are extracted from the magazines and printed in the Oak Leaf.

All information is typed, proofread, re-typed, then sent to press and proofread once more before the student ever sees it.

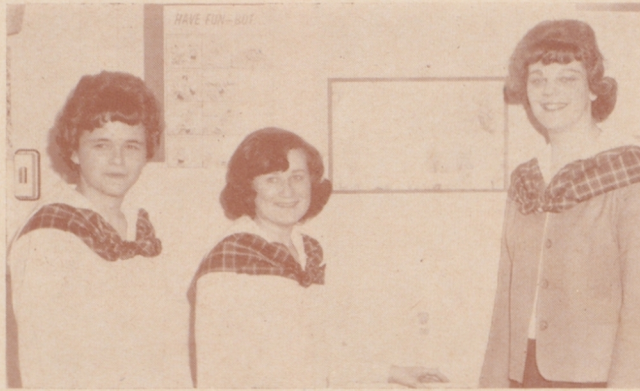

Choosing 'Oak Leaf' candids.

"Help the feeble ...support him"

Officers of the Red Cross were: (l. to r.) Leta Wells, treasurer; Margaret Ensley, public relations; Cathy Hurst, president; Paula Sue King, vice president; Sherry Meyers, secretary.

Results of the Red Cross drive are promising.

Leta Wells does her duty as a Red Cross representative.

The Junior Red Cross is an organization whose purpose is to provide opportunities for youth to serve others locally, nationally, and internationally. Also this organization helps to develop skills, leadership ability, and civic responsibility. Any student of Alameda High School who is interested in helping the school and the community is welcomed to join this organization.

A portion of the money contributed by the students in the annual Red Cross drive is sent to the National Children's fund to help needy children, the rest is used to finance local activities.

Mrs. Virginia Anderson is the faculty advisor for this organization.

This year the club members organized a Halloween Party for the special class at Porter School. Some members act as Junior Gray Ladies in service hospitals, and participate in the Swim to Live program. The club put on a talent show for senior citizens this year. The club also sends First Aid lists and books to the Philippines.

"Welcome ever smiles"

"S" club officers were: (l. to r.) Josette Castaldo, recording secretary; Virginia Keim, financial secretary; Terre Williams, president; Carol Hare, vice president; Gayle Nissen, corresponding secretary.

The "S" Club of Alameda High School is sending two Armenian girls to school with proceeds from its fashion show and candy sale.

Each year the girls sponsor a dance at which they collect toys for the East Bay Children's Hospital and a Christmas party for the mentally rearded children.

The "S" Club is composed of thirty members with ten new girls being chosen each year to replace the graduating Seniors. The girls meet twice a month for one business meeting and one social meeting. As a featured speaker Karen Massotty, a graduate of Alameda High, spoke to the girls about Mills College.

The "S" Club is a high school branch of the Soroptimist Club. Organized in 1961, it strives to serve the school and community. Miss Edith Carpenter and Miss Barbara Stevenson, women's editor of the Alameda Times-Star, direct the club.

Carol Hare and Virginia Keim helped entertain Otis school's special classes.

The fall G.A. officers were: (l. to r.) Darlene Perata, vice president; Carol Capena, president; Jolene Berg, recording secretary; Josette Castaldo, financial secretary; Carol Bianco, song leader.

Two exotic themes spotlighted the Girls' Association's activities at A.H.S. this year. The Fall cabinet chose "City by the Bay" as the motif motto for the casual park and street scene decorations at the Freshman Reception. Glittering Alameda under she stars was the theme for the decorations at the G.A. Dance, "Night Lights."

The Spring G.A. cabinet took A.H.S. girls to "Paris in the Spring." The girls paraded their handmade "Paris" fashions at the annual fashion show to such lilting melodies as "The Last Time I Saw Paris."

Santa Claus brings Christmas to the special class at Porter School.

The spring G.A. officers were: (l. to r.) Lenore Ferro, song leader; Jane Oliver, financial secretary; Sue Takeda, recording secretary; Nancy Fisher, vice president; Jolene Berg, president.

"The mirror of all courtesy"

The Courtesy Board has traditionally been the welcoming committee at Alameda High. A girl is always on duty in the lobby to aid any student or parent who visits the school. The girls guide the students through the school at the end of their eighth grade and again when they come to Alameda as freshmen.

This year the Courtesy Board has started traditional gifts to be given to incoming officers following the tradition set by the G.A. and Student Body officers.

The members of the Humanities Forum, a newly formed organization, are: (l. to r., front) John Currie, Linda Lucasey, Mara Suviks, Tamsen Winter, Leonard Rosi, (back) Mark Cowan, Fran Caslin, Pat Cole, Donna Nomura, Viv Kint, Charles Hill, (missing) Paul Roggenbuck, Tina Gamble, Kathy Woodward, Ches Reyburn, Ken McDonnell, Tony Galena, Joanne Alsop.

This year the Humanities Forum experienced its first entire year of existence under the coordination of Miss Fran Claggett and Miss Madge Holland.

Books which the group will read are selected by the members themselves. These books vary from Death of a Salesman by Arthur Miller or Siddhartha by Hermann Herre.

The Forum concentrates not so much on criticising the books as on attempting to understand human nature through the ideas expressed by their authors.

Membership consists of junior and seniors. A few of the alumni have returned as guest speakers to add their experience from the world outside the high school walls.

Faculty sponsor, Mr. Ashley Jones, is tremendously confident regarding the future of the newly-established Teen Corps of A.H.S. Requirements for membership is a genuine desire to help in various ways through participating in community activities.

The prime concern of the Teen Corps is the support of a nine-year-old boy in China whom they have adopted under the Foster Parent plan. This is made possible by their fund-raising activities which includes cookie sales, Hoote-nannies and, of course, their car-wash which resulted in a splashing success!

Teen Corps members meet weekly where they discuss new ideas for fund-raising activities. They also greatly helped during the yearly Polio March.

Teen Corps officers are: (l. to r.) Linda Lucasey, Gary Reynolds, Sharon Larssen, Randi Klitgaard.

Anyone entering room 108 in the afternoon of any given day can expect to see the following tableau: desks turned with chessboards and pieces on them; milkshakes, hamburgers, hot dogs, sandwiches, potato chips, milk cartons, and assorted fruit in the hands of the starved chess players; Mr. Ted "Checkmate" Anderson, grand master and faculty advisor, holding court in his seat and informing players of their errors; someone in the room lecturing on the rights of the American Indian or some other subject of interest; and someone reciting the resounding cry of "checkmate".

This is the Chess Club of Alameda High School.

The officers of the Chess club (l. to r., sitting) Gary Weber, treasurer; Ray Eis, vice president; Jay Nave, president, (standing) Randy Weber, tournament director; Barry Eaton, secretary, discuss a strategic move.

Officers of the Key club were: (l. to r., sitting) Calvin Mew, Jr. director; Steve Lemos, Sr. director; (standing) Dan Charvet, secretary; Paul Horine, president; Corr Westerhoff, treasurer.

The Key Club of Alameda High School is a club organized this year. It is an affiliated member of the Alameda Kiwanis Club. The purpose of this organization is to be of service to the community. Any high school boy having at least a two point five scholastic average and a good citizenship record is eligible to join the Key Club. This club is supervised by the energetic Mr. Leland Stanford. The after-school club meets every Wednesday.

This year the club painted curbs around Alameda and raised money to install a library in a local children's hospital.

"rustling in unpaid for silk"

Diana Miller and Kim McCaffity admire an award presented to Faith Echtermeyer.

"Versatility" is the motto of the Girls' Athletic Association members as they "keep the ball rolling" whether it be in baseball, soccer, basketball or volleyball. Some joined the hockey team, while other members preferred tumbling, modern dance or badminton.

The G.A.A. members are in charge of the Spring pencil sale and they see to it that the students are kept well-supplied.

While G.A.A. is enough for some of the girls, others have striven frantically to gain eligibility to the Women's Block "A" by having the required number of points.

However, first one must merit a high recommendation from the physical education teacher to gain membership in the Girls' Athletic Association.

Spring G.A.A. officers were: (l. to r.) Dorothy Okamoto, publicity manager; Kim McCaffity, vice president; Kathy Aspinall, president; Jenita Roderiquez, recording secretary; Terre Ensign, financial secretary; Renata Richards, yell leader.

G.A.A. Fall Officers: (sitting) Viki Kolberg, president; (l. to r., standing) Terre Ensign, recording secretary; Kathie Crandall, financial secretary; Diane Gray, publicity manager; Teppie Harlan, vice-president.

The officers of the Modern Dance club were: (l. to r.) Jeanne Adams, Gail Thomas, Sue Ann Smith and Pat French.

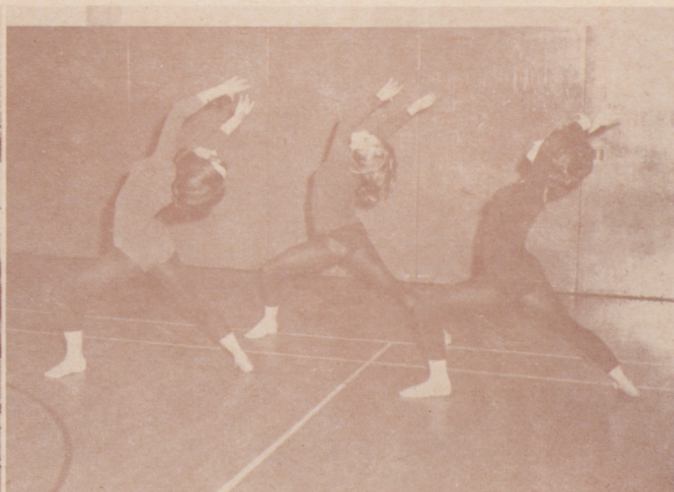

The highlight of this year's program in the Modern Dance Club was a lesson in jazz dancing given by jazz dancer Frank Shawl. The club invited girls from Oakland, Skyline, and Fremont High Schools.

The Modern Dance club offers a means for all modern dance students to improve their techniques and learn more about creative dancing.

The club participates actively in many student body programs including the Holiday Pageant and the All-School Talent Show. This year the Modern Dance Club in conjunction with the music department presented excerpts from the "Music Man" at a student body meeting.

The A.H.S. dance band performs for the Student Talent Show.

The Crescendo Club is the largest club in A.H.S. Membership is open to all those students who are taking, have taken music classes or who are interested in music.

The chief money-raising drive is the candy sale held each fall. This year the club made $7.50. In the past this money has been spent on dance band jackets, music raisers, and Vocal Ensemble uniforms. This year the Girls' Glee received uniforms.

Each year one student body meeting, sponsored by the Crescendo Club, is devoted to musical entertainment by the various groups in school.

The Men's Block "A" Society is an organization whose purpose is to develop better sportsmanship and promote school spirit. The faculty advisor is Mr. Barry Conner.

The goal of this organization is to instill a sense of fair play in its members.

G.A.A. girls have a volleyball game.

The Women's Block "A" is an honor society for active sportswomen. This group includes only those girls belonging to G.A.A. who have obtained 1200 points. A girl can earn her Block "A" letter by excelling in any sport.

Officers of the Women's Block "A", Spring term, were: (l. to r.) Diana Miller, financial secretary; Linda Zigelhofer, president; Leslie Throp, vice president; Faith Echtermeyer, publicity manager; (missing) Judy Ellis, recording secretary.

The capable officers of the usherettes were: (l. to r.) Jane Avery, treasurer; Jo Ann Druthler, secretary; Ellen Janke, manager; Celeste McGinnis, co-manager; Judy Howell, balcony manager.

The usherettes serve the school in a capacity long overlooked. Their work is done in the A.H.S. auditorium during any of the school performances open to the public. These performances are: senior play, the all-school play, and the holiday pageant. They also help during the graduation ceremonies.

The usherette's responsibility is to distribute programs and escort people to their seats. The usherettes are an important part of A.H.S.

The Alameda High ushers, under the command of Colonel Owen H. Carter, are made up of R.O.T.C. cadets who have volunteered to assist during A.H.S. public performances. They admit only those who have purchased tickets, reprimand or remove those who insist upon disturbing others with brash remarks or untimely disputes and, prepare the auditorium for any further performances.

The French club of Alameda High School is an organization dedicated to the study of the culture and history of the French-speaking countries. Mrs. Marilyn Jeffs is the faculty advisor who supervises the club's many and varied activities.

The annual French club picnic at Roberts' Park was a prime example of the club's joie de vivre. The French club tries to convey an accurate impression of how French people live. Every year the French club has a dinner at which French food is served.

One is eligible to join the French club if he or she is presently taking French at Alameda High School.

The Latin club of Alameda High School is supervised by Mrs. Lenore Marker. The purpose of the Latin club is to promote a wider understanding and usage of the Latin language.

The club holds a business meeting once a month after school. Often plays are put on by the talented members of the club. The requirement for membership is that the student must currently be taking Latin at Alameda High School.

At the meetings games are played in which a thorough knowledge and understanding of Latin is essential to each student. Only by familiarity can one excel in Latin.

"With this ring . . ."

Performing Latin plays are an essential part of Latin.

"For my own part it was Greek"

The Spanish club's able officers were: (l. to r.) Jolene Berg, Carol Hare, and Diane Perata.

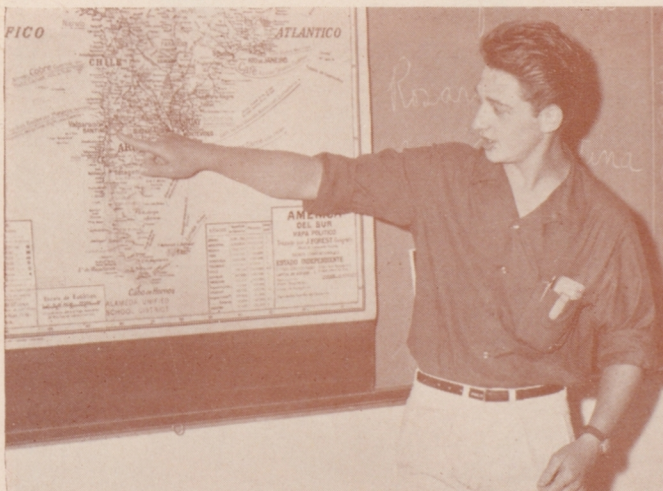

This year the Spanish club of Alameda High School brought a reproduction of a painting by Pablo Picasso. This picture will be hung in the student council room.

The club also viewed some Spanish films with dialogue in Spanish. At the Hotel Du Midi in San Francisco the club had a feast. The club visited Mission Delores. Our foreign student from Argentina, Rudolfo Candia was honored at a farewell dinner party in San Francisco.

The Spanish club of Alameda High School is open to membership to anyone who has taken or is taking Spanish. Senora Lillian Dannenberg is the faculty advisor.

The purpose of this organization is to promote, enhance, and display the culture of all Spanish-speaking countries in the world.

"... And I think this is Argentina."

Rudolfo Candia, Carol-Jean Smith, Diane Taylor, and Edmundo Camacho spoke at a meeting of the Spanish club.

"The mutable rank-scented many"

An experiment is carefully performed by the Chemistry club officers. They are: (l. to r.) Richard Fisher, president; Christy Cannon, recording secretary; Mark Schlichting, vice president; Sharon Lavagetto, treasurer; (missing) Nancy Rabener, publicity manager.

For those chemistry students, past and present, who have a special "flair" in this field, they may become members of the "ignited" Chemistry Club.

The Chemistry Club affords students a special opportunity to work on experiments not performed in class.

Their activities include an annual excursion to the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory. They have also tried, although unsuccessfully, to issue membership cards to their more than twenty members.

Mrs. Cundiff presides as faculty-sponsor of the monthly meetings.

The officers, which are elected once a year, include: Rich Fisher, president; Mark Schlichting, vice president; Christy Cannon, recording secretary; Sharon Lavagetto, financial secretary; and Nancy Rabener, publicity manager.

"...sweet discourses in our time"

Beginning to teach already!

The Future Teachers' Club offers a membership to those students who are interested in pursuing a career in education. The purpose of the club is to extend this interest to all the fields of education, including teaching and counseling.

The meetings consist of practice teaching sessions, discussions on teaching problems, and discussions on the advantages and disadvantages of a teaching career. The club often invites guest speakers who are teachers in different fields.

The members are also able to spend an afternoon at the grade schools in Alameda observing the teaching methods of different teachers. Mrs. Maude Carter is faculty advisor.

The fall "3R's" officers pictured are: (l. to r., standing) Judy Rodgers, recording secretary; Jim Thompson, vice president; (seated) Nancy Fisher, president.

The spring "3R's" officers were: (l. to r., standing) Helga Ness, recording secretary; Linda Martin, financial secretary; Dolores Allen, vice president; (sitting) Jim Thomson, president.

“By medicine life may be prolonged”

Officers of the Paramedical Careers club are: (l. to r., row one) Mrs. Kay Hunter, advisor; Pat Warner, president; Dennis Terao, financial secretary; (row two) Steve Bartley, secretary; Deak Brehl, vice president; and Don Moore, historian.

The Paramedical Careers club of Alameda High School is open to any and all students who have a sincere interest in any branch of the medical profession or allied professions. Mrs. Kay Hunter, the school nurse, is the faculty advisor for the organization.

The club meets twice a month after school. At each meeting the club members have an opportunity to hear a guest speaker from various hospitals or view a movie about the medical profession.

Some members of the club visited hospitals in the bay area to see just how a hospital is run and how its facilities are used.

The Paramedical Careers club members assemble for a candid.

Planning for the next meeting.

For the first time the responsibilities of the student body officers has gone far beyond planning and organizing the weekly student meetings.

This term Pete Eieman took a more active part in the student-faculty meetings than previous A.H.S. presidents by presiding as co-chairman at the meetings. Previously the chairman had been a faculty member.

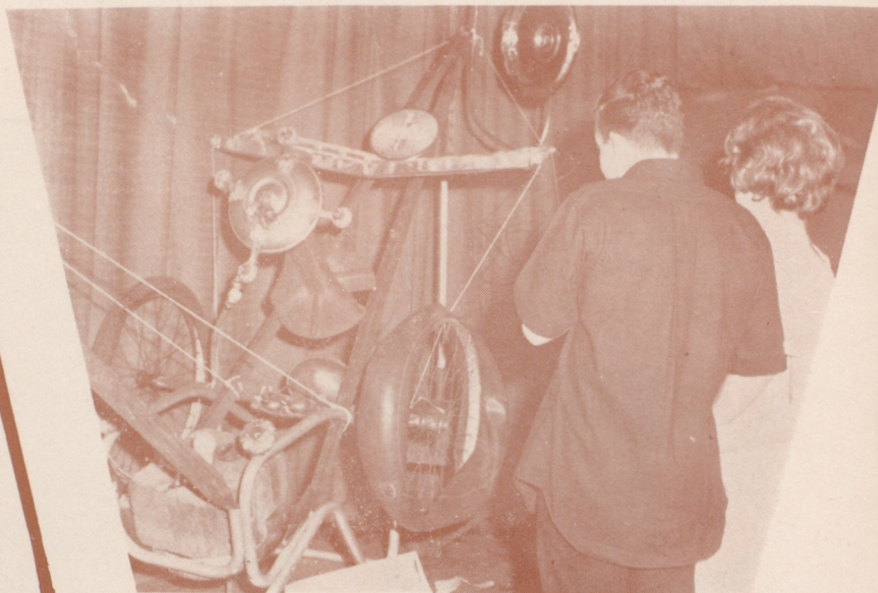

As Vice-President Marty Essex related to the students the suggestions they had submitted to the Suggestion Box, which was originated this year. She also acted as chairman of the Student Panel.

Recording Secretary Margie Burns kept active in a correspondence program between Alameda students and students in Lindigo, Sweden.

Financial Secretary Bruce Sillers promoted 100% student purchase of Student Body Cards.

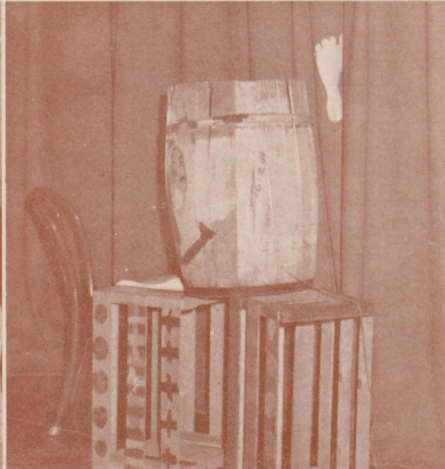

Merilee Kucera, spring Yell Leader, generated spirit and enthusiasm at the games and student meetings.

Spring Calendar

FEBRUARY

- 1—Harry Ells beat the basketball team one hundred three to seventy-two in a prodigious battle.
- 11—Pacific edged the Hornets sixty-five to fifty-five.
- 14—El Cerrito was outshined by our flashy basketball team sixty-one to forty-nine.
- 18—In a night raid our confident cagers bombed Encinal sixty-nine to fifty-eight.
- 21—No dance ever had a more appropriate title than "Pandemonium", the opening term dance.
- 25—Berkeley played the role of the villain as they upset the Hornets eighty-nine to eighty-one.

MARCH

- 10—The baseball team trounced Fremont High by the score of four to three.
- 11—Our cinderella baseball team beat the University of California freshmen, one to nothing, in a tremendous upset.
- 13—Our rapidly improving baseball team made a mockery of Hayward while beating them two to one.
- 14—The senior play, "Beggar on Horseback", was the funniest play in the history of A.H.S.
- 17—The baseball team rolled over Harry Ells four to two.
- 18—The senior girls stomped the babies nineteen to nothing in the second annual Powder Puff football game.
- 20—The fleet-footed track team finished third in a meet at San Leandro.
- 23—A short reprieve was granted as Spring Vacation began today.

APRIL

- 2—A sparkling array of talent was exhibited in the Spring Talent Show.
- 6—Exam Week jitters began today.
- 17—After R.O.T.C. inspection the Men's Block 'A' dance was enjoyed by many.
- 21—All those little secrets were revealed tonight at Open House.

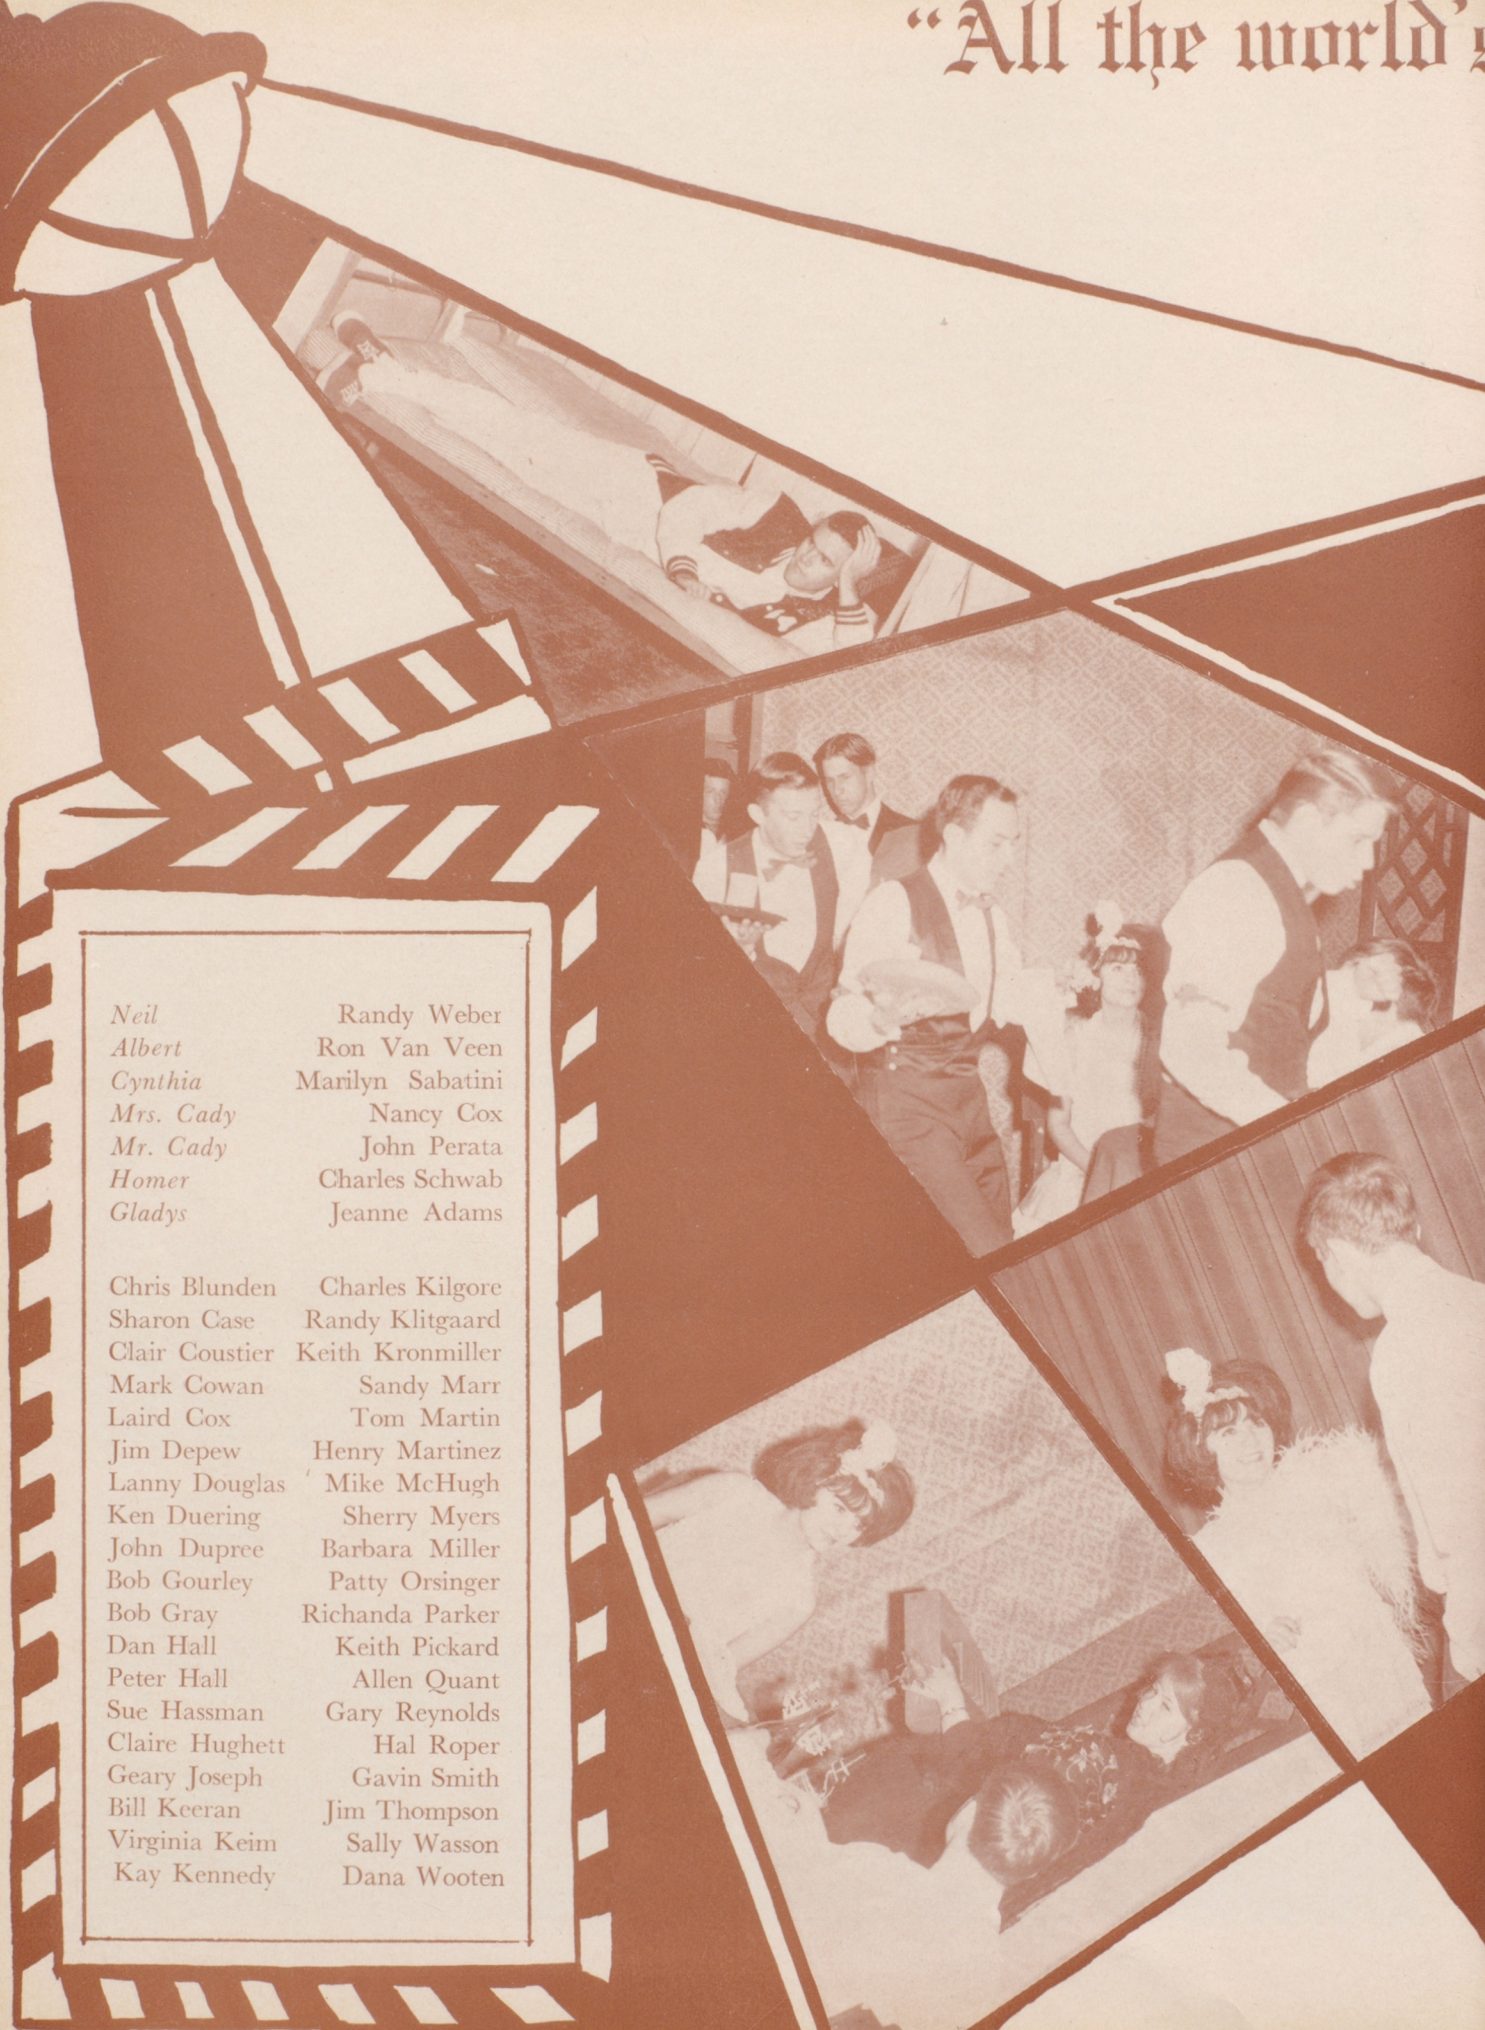

MAY

- 1—A variety of songs were sung at the Teen Corps "Hootenanny".
- 15—The Spring Concert was the year's euphonious entertainment.
- 22—The Seniors had a blast at their senior picnic at Castle Rock.

JUNE

- 5—The senior ball was enjoyed by the nostalgic seniors as they talked over old times and attended their last high school dance.
- 8—For the last time of the school year Exam Week made its dubious beginning.
- 9—The seniors had one of their last activities today: the senior banquet at the Claremont Hotel.
- 11—The tears flowed at Graduation this night. But the all-night party served to boost the spirit once more.
- 12—The gates were opened, the kids were let loose, and another long-awaited summer vacation closed out a memorable school year.

a stage"

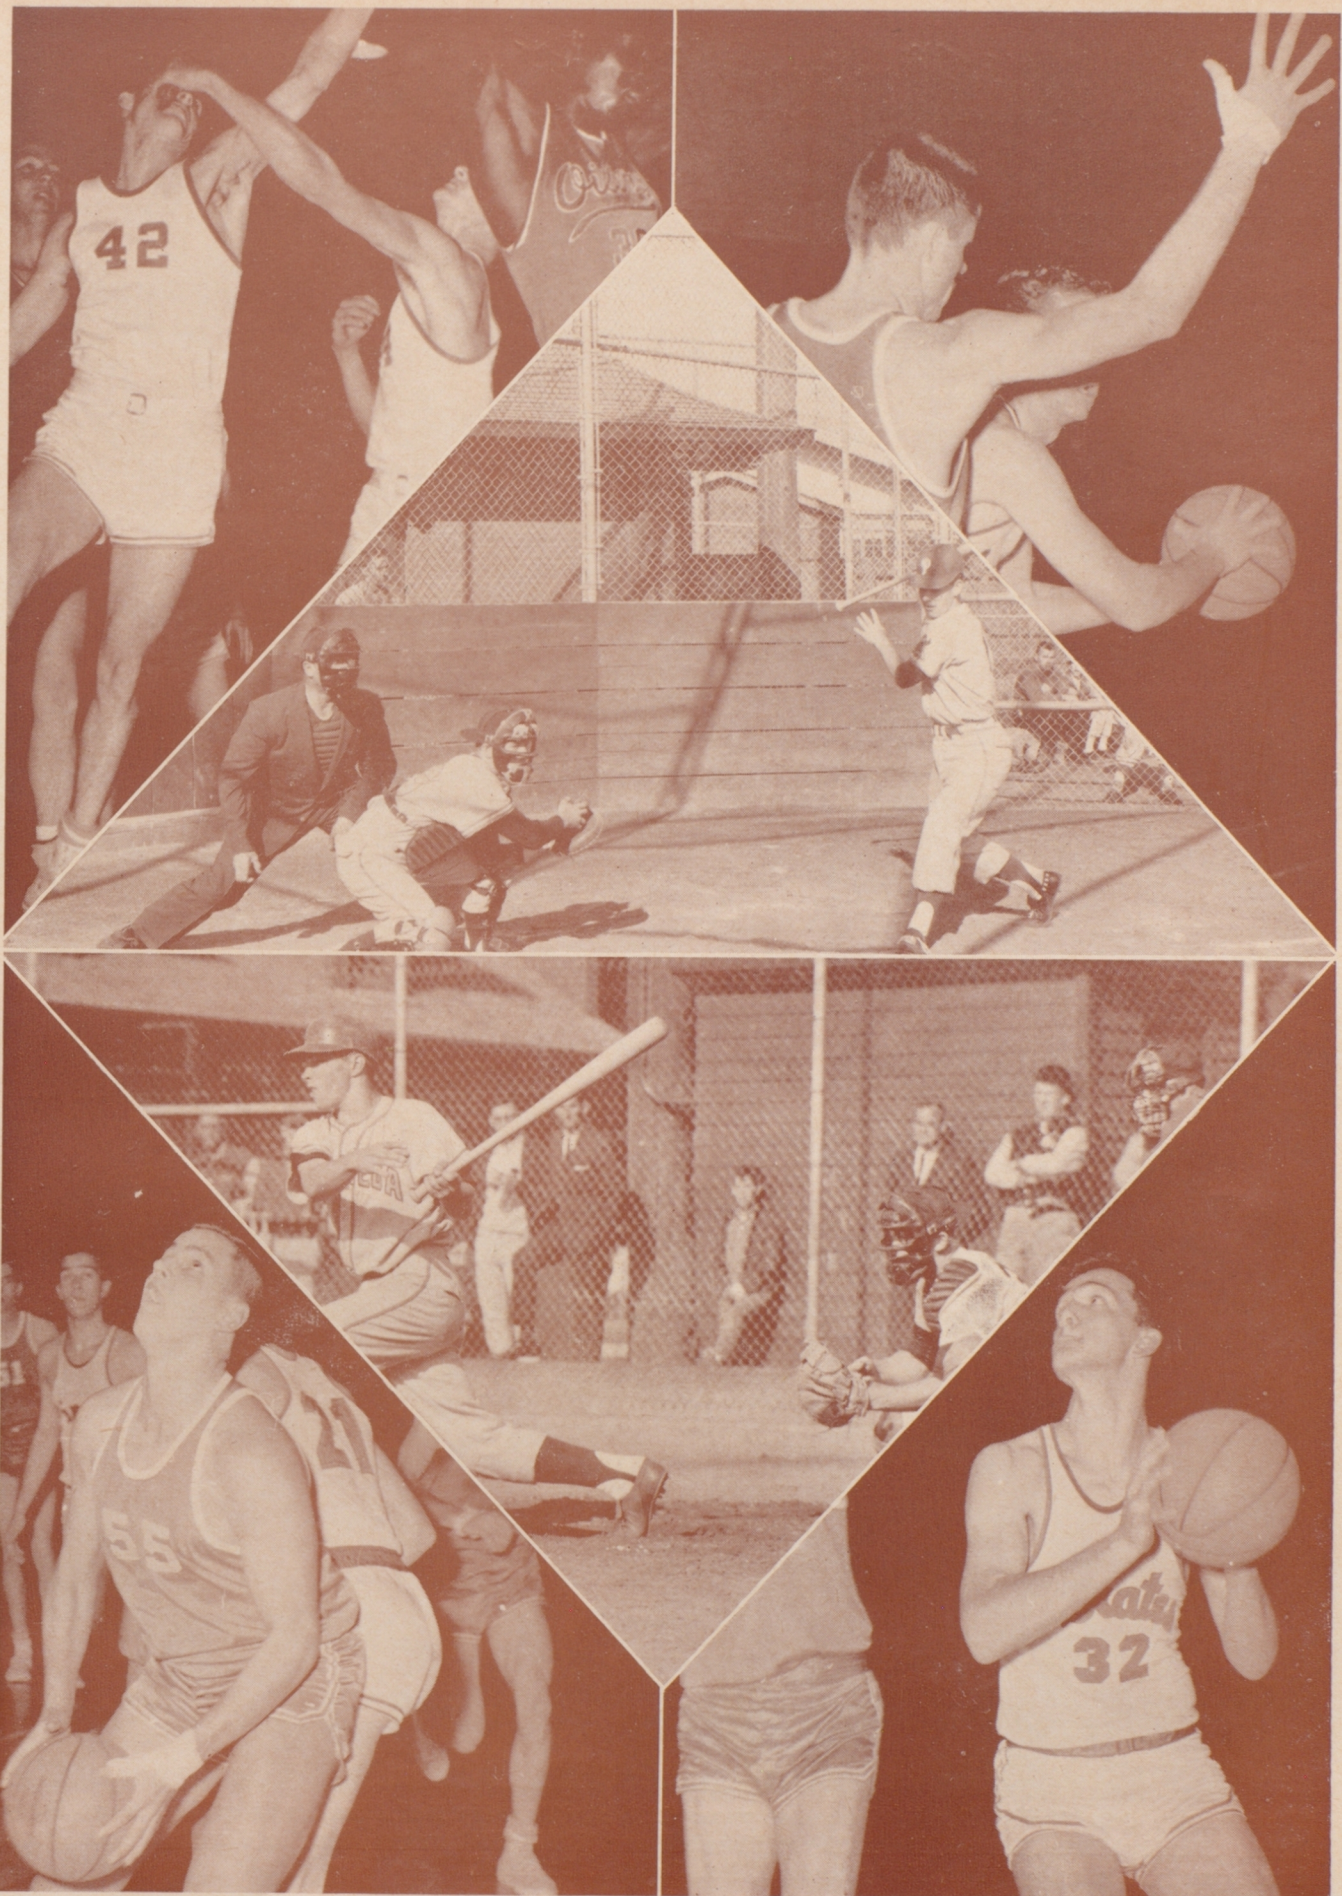

"...a precious seeing to the eye"

Pom-pon girls of the Spring term are: (l. to r.) Marcie Schaeffer, Nancy Rabener, Diane Enos, Marnell Xavier (head), Linda Burror, Janet Trulin and Anne Souza.

Yell leaders of the Spring term were: (l. to r., front) Cindy Beynon, Sue Edwards, (back) Micheala Kane, Merilee Kucera (head), Jo Ann Koenig.

“My words fly up”

The members of the Ad Board were: (l. to r., sitting) Julie Roemer, Doug Saunders, Rich Williams, (standing) Dr. Snell, Pere Eierman, Sue Edwards, Deanna Demel, Merilee Kucera, Bruce Sillers, Sally Nissen, Margie Burns, Marty Essex, Calvin Mew, Kathy Crandall, Joleen Berg.

The members of the Student Faculty Committee were: (l. to r., sitting) Mr. Mell, Miss Los Kamp, Mr. Moore, Marty Essex, (standing) Pete Eierman, Bruce Sillers, Margie Burns, Faith Echtermeyer, Merilee Kucera, Joleen Berg, Don Carmody, Linda Zigelhofer, Kathy Aspinall, Bob Gourley, Dr. Snell.

"I am arm'd so strong in honesty"

Members of the Women's Board of Control are: (l. to r., row one) Susan Garfinkle, Marilyn Sabatini, Fran Hutchinson, Sue Short, Holly Lacy, Sharon Case, (row two) Cindy Borden, Brenda Gates, Sharon Lavagetto, Ann Fenn, Sandy Holden, Pat Stohr, Christy Cannon, (row three) Nancy Frasier, Carol Albright, Faith Echtermeyer, Mary Kleinjan, and Cheryl Pearson.

The Men's Board of Control performs the same basic duties as the Women's Board of Control. It judges boys who have been accused of misdemeanors and determines the punishment. They judge the same kind of offenses as the girls, except the crime of wearing "clippies".

Because of their similarity, the Ad Board has considered combining the two boards. According to this plan the Men's Chief Counselor would preside when boys are accused and the Women's Chief Counselor would preside over the girls. Together the two boards would then determine the punishments.

Members of the Spring Men's Board of Control were: (l. to r., row one) Calvin Mew, Rich Scherrat, Bill Benge, John Dupree, (row two) Charles Bain, Walt Standard, Bob Vraciu, Rich McNamara, Gary Brannan, (row three) Harold Smith, Corr Westerhof, Dave Elliot, Jim Thompson, Ham Lee, (row four) Jay Nave, Steve Lesh, Frank Yamasaki, Dr. Snell. Missing: Roger Otto.

The Women's Board of Control hopes to guide and help all offenders of school rules by issuing effective punishments fitting to the crime. For example, a girl accused of over-affection might be compelled to research the life of Don Juan, or a girl, called in for wearing hair clips, may have to write on the school policy concerning headdress fifty times.

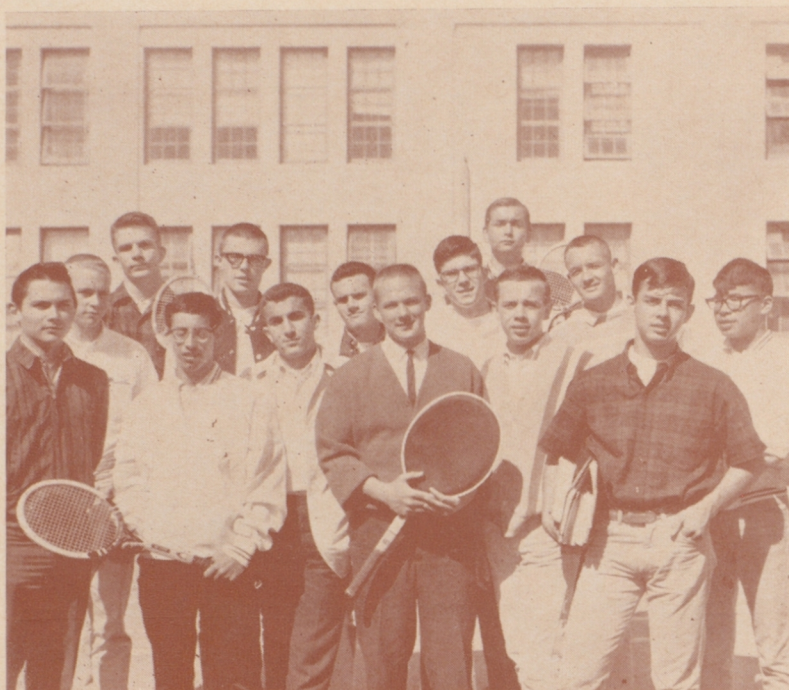

The Board of Control is a very important part of student participation in school management and strives for respect from both teachers and students.
